1. News Articles: like regular articles that can be searched
2. Announcements: this is an article but not part of a set that is searchable. It is created to accommodate ad hoc information that needs to be communicated to agents quickly. The most recent announcement will always appear as a banner on the Agent Application.

Note

Please note that language you choose for the announcement will determine the agents that the announcements are shown to. For example, Danish announcements will only be shown to users with Danish as their primary Agent Application language.

After you have made your edits, click on Save to process the announcement, or Cancel to reject your changes.

Note

The latest announcement that has been saved will always appear as a banner on the Agent Application. Agents can choose to close the announcement and view all announcements from the relevant section in the knowledgebase.
